FP&L Franchise Payment To City Is Over $20,000

The Florida Power and Light Company annual franchise payment to the city of Belle Glade was delivered this week in the amount of $19,877.38.

The second annual payment, delivered by Curtis Chase, FP&L district manager, was 16.6% larger than last year's payment.

Monies available through the franchise will be applied on the city's $300,000 recreation bond issue.

Gross payment this year was $20,775.17 less fees and licenses amounting to $797.79.

The first bonds are due December 1, 1961 for $10,000. Interest is between 4.25 and 4.4 percent for 20 years. First interest payments were made by the city last month.

Last year the amount was $18,015 in the franchise rebate less charges of $877 for a net amount of $17,138. The rebate is based on six per cent of the local revenue.

Early last week Chase said the proposed rate would have little effect on the amount of rebate since the increases in consumers here would make up much of the revenue.

The rebate is made available to the city under the terms of a 30 year contract with FP&L.

Group Here Thumbs Down TVA Funds

The Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce legislative action committee met Tuesday morning at 7:30 at the Belle Glade Coffee Shop to discuss the pros and cons of pending Senate action to allow the Tennessee Valley Authority, a government-owned power producing agency, to expand into areas not served by TVA.

The action committee went on record as not favoring the Senate bill and vowed to write their congressmen individually.

Vernon Dexter was moderator and explained the function and history of TVA. He said the utility was created in 1933 to develop the south-central and midwestern part of the country through reclamation and water control.

"The work of the TVA," Dexter told the group, "is finished. With the economy of the country growing, the TVA has reached a peak. They must build additional plants."

Dexter said the bill in the Senate would allow TVA to float a $750 million bond issue over a ten year period, and it would be repaid out of Washington taxes they received. Since the U. S. Treasury will probably be the only buyer, the TVA would be subsidizing the program.

Dexter said the Hoover Commission is not clear on the issue but it does say the plan is wasteful. By defeating the measure in the Senate, TVA would be forced to return each year for an appropriation.

Little League Will End Soon

The Pony League and Little League summer baseball season is due to end on July 26. Except for one or two league standings, anything could happen as far as the won and lost column is concerned.

Many people believe the won and lost column is a secondary thing to the lessons in living a young boy learns on the baseball diamond. It's true, the competitive spirit is kindled, but the lessons a youth learns in getting along with his fellow youngsters is the greatest possible motive of junior baseball.

The parents are proud, too, when their boy plays a long way into center field. Therefore, the Little League and Pony League serves another purpose, it kindles parental pride and brings the youth closer to his folks in that sense. It's participation, either from the grandstand or the field. There are only a few more (Continued on Page Eight)

Police Firearms School Set Here

A firearms school will be conducted next week by the Florida Police Academy for members of the Belle Glade Police Department at the city's firing range near the city dump.

Police Chief Charles Goodlett said that all officers would attend the school at some time during the two-week period the school is in session.

Academy president, Bill Carlson, at Orlando, will appoint an instructor. The 38 caliber pistol will be used during the range firing.

"Prison farm employees will also attend the instruction period and range work."

JOB and WORKER

J. W. Mosley, Jr., Representative Florida State Employment Service

During the summer months boys 16 years of age and above are seeking the advisability of quitting or continuing school.

May I strongly suggest that you continue your education. If you quit school and go to work, you are going to work for a living.

Now, now is your chance to acquire habits you will need to be happy in work and life. Get the habit of learning so you will be able to go on learning after you have finished school. Most of your classmates will stay in school and graduate. Stay with them, learn with them, graduate with them, and you will be able to compete with them for the better things of life.

You will find more people interested in you and your success at and around school than at any other time. The job of making a living can become odd and cruel at times. The better equipped you become, the better your chances of success. Talk to your teachers and school officials. They are really your friends. Let them know you about the man you would like to become. Get hold of the tools of living; learn to use them. "The Big Five." These are the tools employers (Continued on Page Eight)

Congressman Paul G. Rogers announced from Washington that the House of Representatives had voted appropriations for the completion of the survey of the Southern Florida Flood Control Project in the amount of $5,226,000. Attending the Tuesday meeting were Avery Bass, E. T. Morris, Lee Smith, D. S. Harrison, Police Chief Charles Goodlett and Mr. Edwin Young, chamber executive secretary.

The livestock market is local headquarters, Young said, and the board is adding concrete lanes at the market to facilitate dipping the cattle during the week.

Special emphasis, Smith said, will be on increasing the number of workers to be recruited from Georgia, Tennessee, South Carolina, Mississippi and Alabama.

A joint meeting will be held on July 23 before the managers and farm labor representatives meet separately.

Other FSES personnel from this county who are expected to attend besides Smith and Mosley are Robert M. Douglas, manager and Robert A. Arnold, farm labor representative, from the West Palm Beach office.

Florida unemployment insurance payments in June rose in 15 major areas but declined in 14 as total payments were up $20,126 over May, states Industrial Commissioner, Chairman James T. Voelke in a report just released.

Belle Glade payments amounted to $6,240 over $1,534 over May, Voelke reports.

Full House Hears BG Sewer Forum

The July 11 open forum held at the Belle Glade city hall for the purpose of discussing the sewerage problem for sanitation improvements played to a full house of interested persons.

Reverend U. W. Malcolm was moderator for the panel which consisted of E. C. Hodge, the fiscal agent representing the city, Frank Osteen, consulting engineer representative; City Attorney Claude Jones, and Frank Anderson and the program planning City Manager Robinson.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce members attended in a body, having adjourned to attend the forum. Nearly all the seats in the commission room were filled by other citizens.

Hodge and Osteen sketched the workings of the $1.1 million sewerage program from the financial and engineering standpoint and Rev. Malcolm directed other questions to panel members as they were presented.

Various facets of the proposal were explained and it was the opinion of the panel that the plan would be the operating cost of the plants a budgeted item and all citizen would pay for it twice a flat $2 sewer charge would be made.

To this flat fee consumers would pay an amount equal to half of their water bills or the $2.50 minimum charge. It was stressed that this was only a tentative and suggested method.

Bass Over 10 Lbs. Leads In Contest

LaMont Alberson of West Palm Beach took the lead this week in the summer-long Palmetto Bass Fishing Contest. He weighed in a bass which pushed the scale to a reading of 10 lbs. 5 oz.

Alberson's catch was almost two pounds heavier than the previous biggest bass, caught during the contest's first week by Horace Harris of Belle Glade. If his catch is not surpassed, Alberson will win the $100 grand prize posted by Bank of Palmetto, when the contest ends on Labor Day.

The top eight weigh-ins in this weeks contest averaged a little more than 5 1/2 lbs. each, an indication that the bass are growing as the summer progresses, or that fishermen are finding the favorite bass hang-outs.

Top catches this week: U. W. Malcolm, Jr. of Belle Glade 6 lbs. 7 oz. and 5 lbs. Rev. U. W. Malcolm of Belle Glade, 5 lbs. 15 oz.; Johnny Peacock of Palmetto 4 lbs. 4 oz. and 4 lbs. F. G. Gillis, Sr., of Palmetto, 4 lbs. 15 oz.; Buck Tillman of Canal Point, 4 lbs. 14 oz.

The current week's competition concludes Monday at midnight. Anglers may enter the contest by first purchasing $1 in merchandise in Palmetto, then signing up. Once signed, anglers are eligible to compete weekly and monthly prizes for the $500 contest.

The Belle Glade National Armory on SR 89 near the highway was not inspected July 11 by a team of officers from the headquarters at St. Augustine as planned according to Commander 1st Lt. Jewell Bass.

Certain parts of the structure were completed on that date and the officers declined to make a final inspection until these parts were finished.

Hardware and the structure were among those points listed for further work before another inspection is made, probably 8, 10 or 31.

Bass declined to set a date for formal open house ceremonies and we anticipate more than a thousand guests will be in attendance," Mattson said.

Tractor-Trailer Slides Into Ditch Friday At SB.

Traffic was marled over an hour at South Bay Friday morning when a semi-tractor trailer jack-knifed on the wet pavement near the River service station on U. S. 27 and hit a wire fence in a ditch on the west side of the road.

South Bay patrolman Louis Woodham said the truck, driven by Frank Elledge, 44, Houston, Texas, was not injured and damage to his tractor was slight. The truck's manifold and fan received minor damage and the truck was pulled from the ditch.

Everglades Experiment Station Is Important In Community Economy

"The 133 employees of the local station and its laboratories are proud to be a part of the community and to know that as a group they contribute substantially to the economy of the area," Dr. W. T. Forsee, Jr., chemist-in-charge at the Everglades Experiment Station, told Rotarians here Friday.

There is paid out for salaries in this county approximately $181,500 with an additional $110,000 for other expenses. Of the total number of employees, 79 are paid by the state with the others paid by the USDA, cooperating agencies and groups.

Of the total of $338,000 in the annual budget, the USDA pays $211,500.

A Re-evaluation of the physical properties of the station made in 1954 by W. R. Hooker and James Ball gives us a total valuation of $1,300,000, approximately, made up of the following: land $248,000, land improvement $180,000, buildings $350,000, other improvements $1,500,000 and equipment $179,000.

"We have been asked by the last legislature $13,000 for an equipment shed, $4,900 for a greenhouse and $48,000 for laboratory building in Fort Pierce.

Representative Emmett S. Ford has introduced legislation these items in appropriation despite the fact that most other similar requests were eliminated in the budget.

Dr. Forsee gave his audience information as to the actual methods of purchase and purchasing through the central purchasing office."

Bids On Water Works Bonds Set For July 24

Bids on the $600,000 water revenue bonds will be opened July 24 at the regular session of the Belle Glade City Commission.

The city seeks to convert some $162,000 in bonds now held by the Royal Neighbors of America into first lien bonds and obtain $438,000 in new money to finance the improvements to the city's water works.

Due to certain advertised features of the sale, it is expected that B. J. Vanden, the city's fiscal agent, will be the only bidder, who will bid on the bonds representing Royal Neighbors.

Vandegrift Named Convention Head

Commissioner J. H. Vandegrift, whose term also expires has publicly stated that he would be a candidate; however, by noon Thursday he had not tossed his hat in the ring.

Unwin, completing his freshman term as a city councilman, declined any comment this week except to say, "I think the people know pretty well how I stand."

Carlton says, "I am for the best interests of Belle Glade." He also declined further comment at the time.

At this writing Mayor Ingram was not available for any comment.

Presently, the sewerage proposals of the city as well as recreational activities are the most likely subjects to become campaign issues in the city.

Ingram has served four years as mayor of Belle Glade. He was defeated by Edwin J. Ingram in 1955, had served four years at the city council table previously.

The proposed $1.1 million sewerage and incinerator plant by the city is up for straw ballot at the municipal election.

The revision of the city's charter, passed by the 1957 Florida Legislature, is also up for a straw ballot.

Among other things, the charter has been revised to outline the duties of the city manager. It also states that the city manager were never clearly defined.

Pot Luck Supper Held By Legion

The event had one of the largest turn-outs in recent weeks. Executive board members met for a short business session for the officers enjoyed a social hour.

The business session dealt with a modification of club room rules and regulations. The board agreed to make a donation to the Broward County Heart Association in the name of Frank Wolk, a district executive committee member who died this week while marching in a soapbox derby parade.

This request for heart fund donations was made in lieu of flowers for the deceased legionnaire.

"Junior" Vaughn, the club steward, announced the club room would be open Monday thru Friday 4:15 p. m. and Saturdays from 2 p. m. until 4 p. m.

He urged all legionnaires to drop by for a social visit.

"The world of books is the most remarkable creation of man. Nothing else that he builds ever lasts. Monuments fall, nations perish, civilizations grow old and die out; and after and era of darkness new worlds build others. But in the world of books are volumes that have seen this happen again and again, and yet live on, still young, still as fresh as the day they were written, still telling men's hearts of the hearts of men centuries dead." — Clarence Day.

Dead Sea Scrolls by John M. Allegro. In this book Professor Allegro tells of the discovery of the scrolls, the painstaking work of the scholars and brings to life for his readers the fervent, thoughtful people who wrote them. The author compares the actual words of the Dead Sea Scrolls with similar passages in the Bible. It is one of the best of the growing number of books on the scrolls.

A Lucky Number is a book everyone will enjoy reading by Vera Henry. You will relish every hilarious moment of this boy affectionate story of a lovable family.

Tall Houses in Winter by Doris Betts is a novel of the south. It tells the story of Ryan Godwin, who returned to his home after many years of absence. Many things are in their accustomed place, yet others are quite different. Ryan emerges as a character for whom one comes to have both sympathy and understanding — the reader is moved deeply because he comes to know Ryan and his dilemma so well.

U. S. Enjoys Luxury Goods Unknown to Russian Masses

As America's giant steel industry marks its 100th anniversary this year, one of the bright spots in the centennial picture belongs to gleaming stainless steel. Steel makers themselves regard it as "the jewel of the industry."

But what is this metal, and what makes it stainless? What can it do, and how does it differ from other metals? These and other questions are being asked every day by housewives and businessmen who find the growing list of products made of stainless steel playing a larger and more essential role in their daily life.

Understanding what makes stainless steel stainless is beyond most of us. Even after years of research metallurgists and physicists have only a theory as to what makes this steel so extra special. But, as time goes on and experiments continue, the "theory" is slowly becoming an accepted fact.

It was known for some years that when chromium (one of the earth's many elements) was added to iron, something strange happened. And, when the added chromium exceeded 11 percent of the total mixture, oxidation of the surface of the finished steel formed an invisible film which resisted all forms of atmospheric corrosion, or rusting.

Self-Healing Film — There is little doubt today that this film exists and that it is remarkably tough, possessing the strange ability to mend itself, once broken.

All stainless steels have three things in common: 1. BEAUTY, so luxurious and yet it has no pat stainless steel flawless on more than half the dinner tables in America. 2. STRENGTH, many times greater than that of any other metal in popular use. 3. DURABILITY that preserves the beauty and strength while reducing maintenance and replacement costs to a relatively negligible level.

These three key words—beauty, strength and durability—when used together have become a synonym for stainless steel.

Russia Hears Metal — A number of Russian officials visiting America last year were quoted in the press as being "amazed at the way America uses stainless steel for everything, even entire buildings." In an unguarded moment, the official spokesman for the party figuratively thumbed his nose at the Russian man-in-the-street by declaring "it is too good to waste on the people when we need all we can make for our atomic and defense industries. Perhaps tomorrow the public can have it."

He admitted one exception to this rule, however. To conserve gold Russian artists are permitted to make dentures of stainless steel.

In America, where the collective man-in-the-street is king, and his woman is queen, industry is constantly searching for ways to use "primitives" stainless steel in products to make living easier and better.

In the rest of the world stainless steel may be the material of a distant tomorrow, but here in America we have it today, and will have it in ever increasing quantities as our steel industry moves into the second century of growing with America.

THE BIG SCHOOL PROBLEM

Stewart Alsop, the liberal-minded writer on current affairs, recently made a little tour of some suburban schools. He was motivated in this by the proposal that the federal government provide funds for classroom construction.

At the beginning of his trip, Mr. Alsop was inclined to agree with the proposal. But at the end of it, he was no longer so sure.

One reason for that is that the school situation, while serious in many places, "is not quite so desperate a crisis as it has sometimes been painted."

Another is that "if the federal government does move in, the federal government will stay in, despite the President's fond hopes."

Still another is that "surely there is something to be said for the nation that the citizens of a state should be financially responsible for the education of their children."

Finally, Mr. Alsop came away from his tour with this impression — "that the teachers and officials I met, all admirable people, were a little too much interested in the building of the children were taught, and not enough in what they were taught."

All of these moderately-phrased observations are important — and the last is the most important of all. We will put the cart before the horse with a vengeance if we lay heavy emphasis on the physical characteristics of our schools — and only secondary emphasis on what goes on in the classrooms.

POWER MAKES REVOLUTIONS POSSIBLE

Revolutions in productive enterprise, like revolutions within nations, depend on the power of the machine.

Industrial revolutions, happily, are bloodless and beneficial.

That has been true of the agricultural revolution — a revolution which has quietly gained tremendously in force during the 150 years alone. And the form of power responsible is horsepower.

A magazine published by an oil company tells what has happened. American farmers now use 117 times as much power machinery — which is five times the whole investment in farm machinery and equipment needed to make automobiles. Some of the newest machines come close to automation — a mechanical harvester, for instance, actually delivers celery from the field, packed in cartons. All are enormous labor savers — in harvesting potatoes, one machine does the work of 18 men; in green beans, 50, and in cotton, 70.

The tractor, of course, is the solid backbone of mechanized agriculture. Farmers now have something like 4,692,000 tractors. That is twice as many as they had as recently as 1946, and the newer machines are far superior to their predecessors in every respect.

What this means is that the family-size farm of the present has at least $10,000 worth of machinery, in addition to a truck and a car. And that is the reason why, in 1956, a farm working force which was 2,000,000 people smaller than in 1940 could raise food for a population that had increased by 35,000,000.

DON'T FORGET THE BABY

The parents of a two-year-old Florida girl recently told a newspaper: "We intended to have our Jody vaccinated against polio from the time she was one. But when we made plans to see the doctor, Jody had a cold or something happened to postpone the visit. Last summer she contracted polio. Now she needs a crutch and a brace on one leg."

A Texas mother told this statement: "I saw two of my three tots lamed by polio after I had put off having them vaccinated. My advice to other parents is: Don't make the same mistake I did."

Two out of every five cases of paralytic polio recorded by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are children under age five. And nothing is more pitiful than a child disabled at the very beginning of life.

How soon should an infant get his vaccination? The man who knows best is Dr. James Salk, who developed the polio vaccine. His answer: "Give the first injection at three months. The second should follow two to six weeks later. Two shots are good, but for maximum effectiveness a third is needed seven months after the second."

So when you are vaccinating the family, don't forget the baby.

A CHANGE IN THE POLIO PICTURE

With the introduction of the Salk vaccine the polio picture in this country has undergone a radical change. Since this change has a bearing on the health of your entire family, you ought to know about it.

Here's what it's happened in the past few years: Children from five to nine years old used to be one of the largest groups of victims. In 1952 they accounted for 24 per cent of all paralytic cases. By 1956 most of these school youngsters have been vaccinated and the proportion of cases among them is declining. In 1956 it dropped to 16 per cent of all cases. That's the very beginning of the change.

Of course, with a decline in one age group, there has been a corresponding rise in percentages among other age groups not yet protected by Salk vaccine.

Take pre-school youngsters under five years old, for instance. In 1952 they comprised 29 per cent of paralytic cases. In 1956 the proportion had climbed to 39 per cent. Infants one and two years old had the highest peak, in 1956, at 49 per cent. They comprised 33 per cent of paralytic cases. In 1956 the percentage was 34 per cent. Since polio paralysis is especially disastrous to wage earners in a family, they need protection urgently.

Think these figures over. If your school-age children have been vaccinated, that's fine. But don't forget the other members of the family.

Elks Teen Center

Hi Kids!
 You really missed something if you weren't at the teen-age center last Friday night. There were 177 teen-agers there. We had drinks given by the Ladies Auxiliary. I understand there is going to be a big surprise for the 26th. Wonder what it could be?

All the kids were glad to see Doris Ziemann back with us. From what I hear Carol Redman is going to be with us the rest of the summer. Barbara Crosby had a cute little red-haired named Roberta. Hughes visiting her from Miami. Have you boys seen Chris Berry? She's a real cute gal visiting Coach Godwin. Larry has seen her I know. Eileen Lindorse's cousin, Sandy Swain is visiting her from Miami.

Fabulous and Clewiston are always invited to our teenage center as long as they continue to follow the Elks' rules which they have done a good job so far.

There were some cute guys from Clewiston the other night, among them were Claude, Mike and Jimmy Owens. Chet Clark and Georgian Mills were also there.

Have you gals looked in at Ronnie Kirkman lately, he's quite a dreamboat.

Didn't our chaperones look lovely last Friday night? We are always willing to thank the chaperones and enjoy having them when they do a fine job, like they are doing.

Elks members and chaperones were carried out to the meeting by Hap Sabiston, Tommy Parker, Clarence Lee, Horace Harris and Mrs. Leland Parker. Mrs. George Godwin, Mrs. Snider will again be in charge of the square dancing.

Will be expecting all you cats to turn out at the Teenage Center. See You! — A cool cat.

Local Woman Honored By Reader's Digest

Mrs. R. W. Kidder, Everglades Experiment Station, Belle Glade, Florida, recently won a Solid Gold Honor Emblem by the Reader's Digest, in recognition of outstanding service as a subscription representative of the magazine for 25 years or more. Solid Gold Honor Emblems are awarded to only three in every thousand Digest Representatives, so Mrs. Kidder's achievement is a noteworthy one.

She also won a silver honor emblem from 20 to 25 years of service.

Commemorating its 35th Anniversary this year, the Digest is awarding Honor Emblems to men and women who have actively represented the magazine in their communities for 20 to 25 years or more, and who have been active in their communities for 20 to 25 years or more.

Similar awards are being conferred, regardless of the length of service, on those who have obtained 100 to 500 more subscriptions in the previous year.

McClendon states that he has arranged with the Florida Department of Veterans Affairs to have someone from the Regional Office visit the Glades area one time during each year.

This will enable the veterans and their dependents an opportunity to consult with and receive advice from men who are experts in their field, and will result in better service to our veterans in this area.

Living Costs Continue to Zoom

But LP-Gas Is One Bright Note

CHICAGO—Although the average of all items included in the U. S. cost of living index has jumped almost 20 percent to its peak high record in the past 10 years, the cost of LP-gas, used by millions of suburban, town, and farm homes is up only 8.3 percent.

The Council attributes the stability of LP-gas prices to a number of factors. Of these, the most important is the fact that the cost of gas is not the most important factor in the cost of living.

Post war growth of suburban, farm, and town populations opened tremendous new markets for the young industry. Through aggressive salesmanship and expansion, independent dealers obtained a major share of these markets for the first time since 1947-49 period.

To determine if rising prices in the LP-gas industry were contributing measurably to the inflationary spiral, the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, sent a questionnaire to 100 LP-gas dealers in every state.

The dealers were asked to tell how their bulk costs had changed in the past ten years. Results of the survey indicate that the price of LP-gas, used in homes for heating, cooking, water heating, clothes drying, refrigeration, and

Progress in Pharmacy

Early American culture found the Indian Medicine Man to be both doctor and druggist. Nine out of ten of his strange medicines were just experiments. Don't just guess.

"Weariness Without Cause Indicates Disease."

To be tired after exertion is normal, but to be always weary is a symptom of possible future trouble. If this condition persists, it is wise to consult your physician. Do not depend on self-treatment or advice from well meaning, but inexperienced friends.

Most of the medicines your physician prescribes can only be dispensed by us in a prescription because their potency and strength requires that they be taken only while under a physician's care. That is why prescriptions give better results. Home treatment drugs that you can get without a prescription are usually never effective.

A DRINK OF PACKINHAM

The dredge was off Bare Beach throwing up the first lake shore levee. After supper conversation in the houseboat was progressing through the three W's: — Work, Women, and Whiskey. Our "digger" or operator, who had once lived in southern Mississippi had learned that our new inspector had come from neighboring Louisiana.

He enquired "What is that kind of liquor they made down in them bayous? They make it out of sugar cane and buckeye balls. It sure is potent. What is it they call that drink? Packinhouse?"

"Packinhouse, my eye!" indignantly retorted the inspector. "You know good and well it ain't no packinhouse! You've drunk your share of it if you've been down in them swamps. Probably made a little of it too. Packinham, man! You know darn well it's packinham!"

"Well, packinhouse or packinham, it ain't bad drinking." Responded the digger. "But how in the world do you suppose it got to be called such a crazy name as packinham?"

"Of course," the inspector declared the inspector, "but I've heard my old granddaddy say it started back when Andy Jackson killed the tar out of those Britishers in the battle of New Orleans. You know old Andy, with the help of that pirate Lofitte killed about a couple of thousand of them redcoats, including the high British general himself."

Now this general was such an important guy that they didn't want to bury him with the rest of the soldiers out in them swamps, so they decided to take him back to England. In them days, when a notable person they used to pickle him in alcohol so he would keep. Granddaddy says that is the way they buried George Washington. Well, anyhow, they made this general a fine casket and lined it with lead, but by golly, they couldn't get hold of enough alcohol to fill it up. So what did they do? They just filled it up with good old Calum shine of which there was no shortage, and shipped the old boy home. Now, you know them sailing ships would take a month or two to get to England, and sailors they tell me are always thirsty. They couldn't bear to think of all that good liquor down in the hold doing nobody no good. It didn't take them scarcely no time to bore some holes in that lead casket, insert some straws and give up that drinking liquor, and granddaddy says the old fellow arrived home in pretty sorry condition.

"Oh, yes, the general's name was Packinham!"

Set out custard cup (for baby) and 3 or 4 flower glasses. Warm milk slowly to lukewarm, not hot (100°F). Test a drop on spoon on inside of wrist, as you would test milk in baby's bottle. Then remove from heat at once. Empty package contents into milk-stir until dissolved, not over one minute. Pour into glasses. Let stand undisturbed 10 minutes. Let set. The custard is now ready to serve. Top with whipped cream and banana slices.

Labor Recruiter Provides Vital Community Service To Belle Glade

Right now during the slack summer season it might be a good idea to meet Calvin Clay. He's a good man to know if you're looking for a job.

Calvin is a farm labor recruiter for the Florida State Employment Service branch office here. His office is a ten by 12 foot building at 527 SW Avenue C Place.

Lee L. Smith, PSES manager here, said the office was created about a year ago for the purpose of providing a small office centrally located to the largest single source of farm labor, maids and unskilled workers.

It was necessary that the office be manned from 5:30 a. m. and be kept open as late at night as might be required. The regular hours, however, are 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The office primarily is to aid the negro people by saving them time. Close contact with the main office on SE Ave. D is maintained by telephone.

Let's look at a typical "in season" day for Calvin. From 8:30 to 7 a. m. the time is spent in the recruitment of day hands for special jobs with growers.

The next hour is used for referral of local crews and crews from out-of-area to farmers for harvest.

From 8 to 10 a. m. Calvin is taking applications on farm workers with special skills, maids and construction workers and selecting workers to fill specific jobs and receiving orders from growers for the following day's work.

In addition to these duties growers, businessmen and contractors must be contacted to learn their labor needs. Those needs must then be filled. It's a busy job at least.

Calvin has been working as a labor recruiter seasonally since 1951 and full time since 1952. He's married and has one 12-year-old daughter, Rosetta.

Irene Clay is a school teacher at Rosenwald Elementary in South Bay. This summer she's attending Northwestern University on her master's degree.

Calvin has been in Belle Glade since 1940 coming here from Tampa where he was a shipyard worker. Prior to his work with the employment service, he worked for Mrs. F. L. Rutledge and at the Belle Glade Municipal Country Club.

For information about what jobs are available, Clay's telephone number is WV 6-2344. If he's not there, call back. He's a busy man.

Employment Should Rise In C&SFFCD

More than 17 thousand persons are expected to be employed by 1958 in new industries located in the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District.

Out of a total of 441 new industries reported for all of Florida, 301 are to be established in the Flood Control District. Employment-wise, there will be 33,000 persons employed in all of the establishments, more than one-half of these in central and southern Florida counties in the watershed area of the Flood Control District.

Establishment of new industries is increasing the responsibilities of the Flood Control District. Not only is the vital flood control aspect of the District's function underscored, but the resultant protection it will be required to give people in their homes and in their occupations is essential. In addition, District works to prevent over-drainage and to inhibit salt water intrusion will be called upon to assure industry an adequate water supply.

According to the Florida Development Commission, 301 industries are expanding or building new plants in 14 Flood Control District counties.

The publication entitled Florida's New Industrial Plants reveals that Dade county has attracted the greatest numbers of industries of any Flood Control District county, with 148, and Polk county will employ the greatest number of persons, with 3,150 in 19 industries.

Various types of industry are located in central and southern Florida. A $22 million dollar air and missile research center will locate in Brevard County, a civil pharmaceutical laboratory will be established in St. Lucie County, and a manufacturer of ladies' uniforms will start production in Okeechobee County.
